

Puig partners with Spanish government to manufacture hydro-alcoholic solutions

Puig joins forces with Spanish government to offer its production capacity to manufacture hydro-alcoholic solutions and sanitizers to meet the need of society and the health system for these types of products in the fight against the Covid-19.

Puig, the third-generation family-owned fashion and fragrance business based in Barcelona, does not normally produce these types of solutions. However, the company has currently prioritized contributing to protecting professionals and other people who need them by employing its production capacity.