

Hong Kong Airport delivers delightful rewards to travelers

Hong Kong International Airport has prepared many delightful rewards for travelers, ranging from e-coupons to free beauty samples, just to name a few

Hong Kong International Airport (HKIA) has prepared a slew of rewards this autumn to help travelers “start their journey in high spirits”. This includes e-coupons worth up to HK$15,600 (US$1,990) and more.

Bon Voyage at HKIA

From today to October 8 2019, passengers can collect a “Bon Voyage Passport” at the Terminal 1 Restricted Area. The passport contains offerings from different shops within the airport, including multiple instant discount coupons, free beauty samples, complimentary cocktails from the world’s leading duty-free brands, Hong Kong’s signature panda cookies as well as limited edition customized candies.

Instant Shopping Rewards for spending above US$255

From now till October 8 2019, travelers who spend HK$2,000 (US$255) and above in one day using electronic payment at HKIA can receive Airport e-coupons worth up to HK$15,000 (US$1,914). Alipay and AlipayHK users will receive an additional bonus of up to HK$600 (US$76) when settling their payment. To take part in the promotion and redeem the Airport e-coupons, travelers need to download the HKG My Flight app and register as a member.

HKIA is an international and regional air hub connecting 220 destinations around the world, including 50 mainland cities. In 2018, HKIA reached a record 74.7 million passengers.
