

Pre-registration now open for TFWA World Exhibition & Conference and TFWA i.lab 2023

Duty free and travel retail professionals can now pre-register for the TFWA World Exhibition & Conference 2023 taking place in Cannes from October 1 to 5 at the Palais des Festivals.

The event will provide a platform for face-to-face interactions with exhibiting brands, prominent retailers, buyers, operators, landlords, airports, airlines, cruise lines, and agents. The immersive event offers unparalleled networking opportunities and showcases the latest trends, innovations and insights that will shape the industry's future.

In addition, the popular TFWA i.lab will return, serving as an ideas hub that shines a spotlight on innovative ways to engage the traveling consumer. Attendees can explore groundbreaking concepts and discover new strategies to enhance the customer experience.

"After the success of our event in Singapore, we are pleased to bring all of our industry colleagues, trade partners and members back to the Côte d'Azur this October for TFWA World Exhibition & Conference 2023," said Erik Juul-Mortensen, TFWA President. "It is certain to be an unmissable gathering, further emphasizing our resolute commitment to accelerating the recovery of the global duty free and travel retail industry."

Delegates will be able to book their place at the event from now until September 7 and can register online here.
