

Duty Free Dynamics CEO sends message to brands and clients during this crisis

DFD CEO Nicolas Dobry

The CEO of Panama-based distributor Duty Free Dynamics (DFD), Nicolas Dobry, has sent a message to stakeholders concerning his company's position during the COVID-19 crisis.

Dobry states that the company has given its staff all necessary tools to work effectively from home at this time.

"During these trying circumstances, the safety and well-being of our employees remains as our highest priority, Dobry's message begins. "Consistently, we [adopted] a temporary work-at-home policy, providing our team with all the necessary tools to accomplish their usual tasks.

"This initiative has enabled us to continue to be focused on DFD's operating performance and reliability, therefore able and ready to comply with our Brand partners' and Retail operators' ongoing needs and requirements, as effectively as usual."
