

ARI set to launch groundbreaking travel retail podcast

ARI CEO Ray Hernan and his team invite industry veterans, emerging voices and newcomers alike to make their voices heard

ARI is gearing up to introduce a pioneering travel retail podcast, with the inaugural series scheduled to debut later this year. The podcast will offer an exclusive peek behind the curtain at ARI while also providing a platform for key industry thought leaders to share their insights, experiences and expertise. This industry-first initiative promises a compelling blend of informative discussions and industry trends, infused with a touch of Irish “craic” for a unique take on the travel retail landscape.

“We’re very excited to be working on this upcoming podcast as a new way to connect with our colleagues and peers across the travel retail industry,” said Ray Hernan, CEO at ARI. “Our goal is to create a space where we can learn from the best, share our stories, and, of course, have some fun along the way. We invite everyone in the industry to tune in and be a part of the conversation.”

ARI extends this invitation to industry veterans, emerging voices and newcomers alike to make their voices heard. If you’re keen on sharing your insights and stories, reach out to ARI’s Global PR & Marketing Manager Denise Sheridan at dsheridan@ari.ie to explore further.

Keep an eye out for more podcast details – follow ARI on social media channels and website for updates.