

EgyptAir welcomes submissions for design and development initiative

EgyptAir Duty Free (EADF) is inviting international design consultants, with extensive experience in large scale travel retail design, to submit their interest for the design and development of the existing EADF retail areas.

The retailer is aiming to significantly enhance the customer experience across all 24 branches, spread throughout the Egyptian airports by developing a world-class modern design while maintaining the local and corporate identity.

For those interested in making a submission, note pre-qualification documentation should contain: past travel retail project experience with location, size and photographic reference verified by the stakeholders; the names of team members and their experience; examples of 3D visualization and executed designs; financial reports for the previous two years, revised and verified by an auditing company.

See Terms & Conditions here:

- EgyptAir Duty Free Shops Purchasing and Selling bylaws apply
- In case of dispute the competent law is the Egyptian Law and the Egyptian court is the competent court to settle any dispute
- Any offers that includes International Arbitration as a dispute resolution manner will be excluded and disregarded

All interested parties are invited to submit their pre-qualification documents to chairman-tourduty@egyptair.com. The submission deadline is July 10, 2023.
